Downtown Princeton And Shopping Center In Midst of Change

Continuity and change: the two things that give a town vitality. The right balance, however, must be struck between them. Many are wondering whether the pace of change in downtown Princeton might be too fast right now. The shopping center, too, is in the midst of many changes, most of which are positive. But its anchor store, the former Epstein's department store, remains empty. And this cannot help but sap the vitality of a generally thriving center.

Although there have been several changes over the past year, the Nassau Street stores between Vandeventer and Chambers continue to be occupied and stable. Here are many of the stalwarts of the Princeton retail community, including Landau's, Alan Royce, The English Shop, Edith's, and Hinkson's.

The picture changes dramatically on the stretch between Vandeventer and Moore, where the fire-damaged Thomas Sweet/Wadsworth Bakery buildings remain empty and awaiting approval for their reconstruction from the Regional Planning Board. The clothing store next to these buildings is also empty. And on the corner there is a "For Rent" sign on the former Narragansett shop.

"That block has become kind of dead," said Borough Mayor Marvin Reed. He hopes that things will change at the end of August, when the new owner of Nassau Savings and Loan takes over. "I think we'll start seeing activity in that plaza and building," he said.

The former Narragansett shop is also expected to come to life on September 1, when a new men's and women's clothing store moves in. The building's owner, Eric Keller, said he could not reveal the name of the store because the HEADED FOR PARIS: Jim Ealy, winner of last week's Bastille Day Waiters' Race, is hugged by his fiancée Jennifer Bowden for good reason. Ealy won two airline tickets to Paris. The couple will fly there next year.

Jennifer Bowden.

You have just seen your fiance win the third Annual Bastille Day Waiters' Race. What are you going to do now?

"We're going to Paris on our honeymoon!"

Apologies to Disney World and maybe the race isn't up there with the Super Bowl. But it was a memorable moment for Jennifer and for Jim Ealy, who won the race by a wide margin — and a delightfully refreshing summer divertissement for the townspeople of Princeton.

It certainly was a happy ending for an ebullient Jennifer, who is a director for a Palmer Square art gallery. She ran up to her fiance, threw her arms around him, hugged him and shouted for all to hear, "We're getting married in May and we're going to Paris on our honeymoon." Both are part-time waiters at nearby J.B. Winberie's.

Township and Borough at Odds In Joint Meeting on Library Site

The question of where the Princeton Public Library should be expanded — at its present site or at Epstein's in the Princeton Shopping Center — surfaced again last week at a joint meeting of Borough Council and Township Committee.

At issue was the matter of expending funds for architectural studies. The library originally requested $75,000 to have preliminary architectural drawings and a cost analysis of both options made. But the feeling of both governing bodies during budget preparation last winter seemed to be "why spend money for study of two sites if we can decide on one?" Library officials reduced the request to $55,000, the amount they said was needed to study one site.

Township Committee included $55,000 in its capital budget, but was careful not to endorse one site or the other. Borough Council, on the other hand, put off making a decision on whether or not to put the $55,000 in its capital budget until it was clear which site was going to be chosen.

In March, the Library trustees, unable to come to a consensus on the two sites among their own members, and seeking an alternative that would be palatable to the governing bodies in difficult financial times, voted to recommend a phased expansion of the existing building.

The plan was to add a third floor to the current building and construct a three-story addition into the Borough-owned parking lot as originally planned, taking advantage of lower construction costs, but to leave much of the new space unoccupied until such time as more money became available.

In late May, in the course of another round of budget discussions at Borough Council, and on the basis of a presentation to Council by library officials, that governing body agreed to a $55,000 allocation for architectural studies at the present site. The amount was to be included in a list of joint capital projects to be dis-

The Final Word ... Maybe On Nassau St. Repaving

This is the absolute, positive, final last word on when the State will repave Nassau Street — at least until the State issues another absolute, positive, final last word on the subject.

The message from Trenton now is that the entire milling, overlay and striping process on Nassau, from Bayard Lane to Markham Road, will take place on four nights: August 12 through 15, from 7:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. The contractor is Kingston Trap Rock Co.

This information supercedes the information that work would begin July 18 ... that work would begin June 25 ... and that work would begin June 3. At one point, the last-named date was lease has not yet been signed. The Bellows building, which houses the shop, has been listed for sale at $2,750,000, said Mr. Keller. "We have owned it since 1984. If we can get the right price we will sell it; if not, we will keep it." He said that, as of the end of this week, the building will be 100 percent leased.

Mr. Keller is also the owner of the former gas station and renovated Victorian building on the corner of Nassau and Maple. Once scheduled to house a drive-in bank, the property has been empty and new tenants have been sought.

Mr. Keller said there will not be space available in the building by the fall. "There are three leases out. The first floor of the gas station will be a retail shop and the other floors will be office buildings."

New stores in Palmer Square include Handblock, Doubleday (one of several new book stores to open downtown) and Teresa's Pizzetta Caffe, which replaced Chambers Walk. But there are also some shops that have recently emptied, including The Gallery and Warehouse. Bella Linea has announced for some time that it is going out of business.

On Hulfish North, a series of chain clothing shops — including Benetton, The Lodge, and two Gap stores — have taken up residence. A small boutique, Celia's, has closed.

The space that was supposed to be occupied by Main Street Restaurant remains empty, as does the plaza in front of it and the unsold townhouses above.

Hulfish North on Hold

There will be no new additions to Hulfish North until the area behind the Hulfish Street garage is cleaned up. Mercer County Soil Conservation issued a stop-work order in response to complaints about the drainage of the former construction site on Paul Robeson Place. Hulfish North is also in the process of being taken over by the Bank of New York.

With the issuance of a building permit, the owners of a new Chinese restaurant have begun work on a new "greenhouse" adjacent to the former TCBY. This will be used as an enclosed eating space for the restaurant. Close by, a gourmet food store is expected to open in the former Charcuterie.

The owners of Hunan Kitchen, on Witherspoon Street and Shirley Court, have purchased the former Fisher building, on the corner of Nassau and Chestnut Streets, and have announced plans to open a takeout Chinese restaurant there.

On Witherspoon Street, Abel Bagel owner Alfred Kahn continues the lengthy process of converting the two stores he owns adjacent to Abel Bagel into the Alpha Dairy Market and Pattykake Bakery. Also on Witherspoon, Subway is expected to move into the spot next to Dunkin Donuts.

Thrift Drug Moving

The major news at the shopping center is that Thrift Drug will move into the former Acme store. Company officials have announced that they will build "the drug store of the future," and that they hope to have it open in time for the Christmas shopping season.

Thrift will fill only 10,000 square feet of the 19,000 square feet of the former Acme building, and will sublet the remaining space to two smaller stores.

Of the three vacant stores in the shopping center, one is the former Great Tastes restaurant, which closed about a week ago. This is the second restaurant to fail at this site; the first was the Charcuterie.

Many interested parties, mostly restaurants, are interested in the Great Tastes space, said Shopping Center spokesperson Chris Hanington. She added that there are five restaurants at the center, and she considers it Princeton's restaurant row.

Thrift Drug's move to the former Acme building virtually precludes the possibility of a second supermarket at the shopping center, said Ms. Hanington. For one thing, Super Fresh's lease requires that it be between Vandeventer and the largest supermarket in the center. And, since the Planning Board rejected Super Fresh's expansion plans last year, the store's expansion options appear very limited.

The Center for Creative Living, Religious Science Church of Princeton, moved from a smaller location across the center. Its lease, said Ms. Hanington, is a temporary one. A new store, the Brass House, has recently opened.

Talk has resurfaced about using Epstein's as the site of an expanded library, but Ms. Hanington says the shopping center has given up on this idea.

Overall, she is quite pleased with the success of the center, although she would like to see Epstein's rented. "It's a tough place to market," she admitted, "but we do have some interest."

deemed necessary in order for the project to be completed by Labor Day.

Maybe the late Mayor Barbara Sigmund's dream has actually come true: The road fairy will swoop down from above and repave the streets of Princeton (virtually) overnight.

Returning to earth, Borough officials have announced those street repair and reconstruction projects that will be under way this week and next.

They include the continuation of the reconstruction project on Witherspoon Street between Wiggins and Nassau. In addition to the closed roadway between Spring and Wiggins, the road between Nassau and Spring is scheduled to be open northbound only. The southbound lane will be closed around work sites.

Also under way is a widening and reconstruction of Washington Road between Nassau and Williams. This will result in a widening of the roadway by six feet to allow separate left and right turning lanes at the intersection. Traffic will be channeled around the work site.

The State will continue its repair and replacement of curbs and driveway aprons on Nassau Street in preparation for the August roadway resurfacing.

PSE&G maintenance crews will begin replacement of the gas main on Humbert and Greenview. Temporary parking restrictions and reversal of one-way traffic may be necessary to provide access to residents.

Borough contractor R.E. Pierson will complete the reconstruction of Park Place between Vandeventer and Moore. Scheduled are a cleanup and restoration following asphalt base paving, curb replacement, and sidewalk reconstruction.

Much of Carnegie Center Is Involved in Tax Sale

Tax liens covering a large percentage of Carnegie Center were sold at a tax sale Tuesday morning at West Windsor Township Hall.

Eleven of the 17 liens on the auction block were bought by Max Zaitz of East Windsor. At least four others were bidding for the liens. Mr. Zaitz will receive 18 percent interest on one lot and from 11 to 16 percent interest on the other ten lots whose liens he purchased.

As of Tuesday morning,
Carnegie Center owed West
Windsor $1.7 million in back taxes. Five of the 22 blocks that were scheduled to be included in the tax sale, however, were pulled out on appeal. Taxes for 1991 have also not been paid on the 17 lots in Tuesday's tax sale.

Carnegie Center's owners have two years to pay the back taxes, plus interest, to Mr.
Zaitz before foreclosure may begin. The center's developer, Alan Landis, was quoted as saying on Monday that he hopes to be able to buy the liens back by the end of the year with the help of a third-party institutional investor.

Also on the auction block was property owned by Princeton Junction Limited Partnership, which owes back taxes of $25,493. Located on open land near the Princeton Junction train station, the owners of the property are Arthur Collins and Arthur Emil, who also own Palmer Square.

A lien on this property was purchased, at 18 percent interest, by Conrad Stout of West Windsor. A tax sale was permitted even though the Bank of New York filed for foreclosure on the property in April.

A tax lien on Princeton
Overlook, located across Route 1 from Carnegie Center, was also purchased by Mr. Zaitz.
The office building's owners owed West Windsor Township $192,129 in back taxes.

Nassau Street Apartment Is Now Affordable Unit

Thanks to an initiative taken by Princeton International Properties' Kathy Francis, Princeton Borough has been able to add another unit to its affordable housing program.

As part of an agreement with the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment, Princeton International Properties said it would designate one unit at 291-293
Nassau Street as moderate-income housing, subject to Borough affordable housing criteria and State Council on Affordable Housing rules and regulations.

The firm, which also owns the P.J.'s Pancake House building and the commercial structures on the northeast corner of Nassau and Harrison Streets, purchased 291-293 Nassau Street in May. At that time, according to Borough Community Development Director
Frank Slimak, there were nine dwelling units in the main structure. The Borough zoning ordinance permitted only five.

In appearing before the Zoning Board, the property owner requested that the Board allow use of a sixth unit for moderate-income affordable housing. The Board gave its permission, and Princeton International Properties is currently preparing the necessary plans for the Site Plan Review Advisory Board.

The two remaining units, out of the original nine, will be in-incorporated into the five units permitted by law.

Mr. Slimak, who called the building in "fine shape," said he felt Princeton International Properties' motivation was a desire to perform a service to the community.

Rent to Be About $490

Using current state guidelines for moderate-income housing, the one-bedroom apartment at the corner of Nassau Street and Princeton Avenue would rent for approximately $490 a month to a single person earning no more than $33,000 a year.

This is the second time a dwelling unit has been donated to the Borough's affordable housing program. The bulk of the program consists of 68 low-, moderate-, and middle-income units on four Borough sites. Of these, 24 have already been built.

DKM Properties dedicated as an affordable housing unit a one-bedroom apartment on an upper floor at 12-14 Vandeventer Avenue. This was done during the real estate development firm's appearance before the Zoning Board to request a use variance.

Mr. Slimak said he does not believe these two units could be utilized in meeting the Borough's Mount Laurel II obligation determined last fall by Judge Eugene Serpentelli. He feels, however, that they might be able to be included if the issue came up again in the future.

Considerable Savings On H.S. Driveway Work

The voters' rejection of the 1991-92 school budget that led to the budget being placed in the hands of Borough Council and Township Committee has yielded an unexpected dividend: a savings of some $43,000 on the reconstruction of the Princeton High School driveway.

The budget had included about $130,000 for the driveway project. During the municipalities' budget discussions, a member of Council suggested that the Borough look into adding the high school driveway to its contract for the reconstruction of Moore Street, where the driveway comes out.

This was investigated, and at last week's Borough Council meeting it was announced that a change order to allow for reconstruction of the driveway has been agreed upon with the contractor. This will increase the cost of the contract by $87,000, from $825,512 to $911,638.

Necessary agreements for having the School District pay for this work are expected to be signed with the School Board shortly.

In other business, an ordinance that sets up mandatory rabies vaccinations for cats was introduced, and a public hearing scheduled for Thursday, August 8.

Approved without any discussion, the ordinance states that all cats of vaccination age (seven months old, or possessor of a set of permanent teeth) must be vaccinated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian.

A certificate of vaccination must then be issued by the veterinarian. An official vaccination tag, while not mandated, is recommended.

Penalties for not complying with the ordinance range from $5 to $200 for each offense.

Council also gave its authorization to a study of Princeton's senior population to be conducted by George Gallup.

The study will be funded with a $5,000 grant received from the Curtis W. McGraw Foundation by the Joint Commission on Aging.

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Disposable Paper Tax

Gov. Jim Florio has signed a law that eliminates the sales tax on disposable paper products. The repeal of this tax, called the "toilet paper tax" by protesters, will go into effect September 1.

The levy covers all disposable paper products, including toilet paper, paper cups, paper napkins, and paper towels.

The controversial 7 percent tax on disposable paper products was approved last June. It was part of a $2.8 billion tax increase package.

Tax Extension Bill

A measure that would give New Jersey residents extra time to pay their property tax bills has been approved by the State Assembly. The bill, which is expected to face a rough time in the Senate, would make the property tax due date 45 days from when the bill actually is mailed by the municipality.

Under current law, municipalities are supposed to mail tax bills by June 15. Property owners then have until August 5 to pay, or be hit by a late charge.

About 300 municipalities, including Princeton Borough, missed the mailing deadline because the State had not yet certified the amount of State aid they will receive.

The Borough's tax bill went out on July 11 along with an explanation that the County Board of Taxation had not certified the new rate until July 10.

I&R Won't Be on Ballot

Both houses of the State legislature refused to bring to the floor the issue of placing the question of a constitutional amendment to permit initiative and referendum (I&R) on the November ballot. I&R would allow private citizens to initiate their own laws and constitutional amendments.

Failure to bring I&R to the floor this week makes it virtually impossible for the legislature to approve the measure in time for the question to appear on the November ballot.

School Superintendents' Tenure

Legislation that would end tenure for school superintendents has been approved by the State Assembly. Removed from the measure, however, were Senate provisions that would also have taken tenure protection from assistant superintendents and other top school management.

The bill now goes back to the Senate for consideration. Sen. Gerald R. Stockman, D-Trenton, sponsor of the Senate version of the bill, said he would support the Assembly measure and later introduce a separate measure that would include assistant superintendents and business, finance and personnel officers.

pus Center which is under construction. The theft had taken place between then and 1:30 the previous morning.

The smoke from the fires was discovered about 1:45. When police and firemen were alerted and responded, they discovered the burgled safe in the center of the conference room which was being used by the food service department until the building was completed. The safe had been pried open with a tool that has not been recovered, Capt. Hanley continued.

The cash drawers containing the money were used by the food service employees, he said, to hold change and bills for various cash registers. Nothing else was taken. The cash drawers were left behind.

Entry to the conference room was gained by removing an unsecured piece of plywood that covered a construction entrance. The thief exited through a bathroom window well that shared a common window with the conference center.

Man Is Fined, Jailed On Shoplifting Charge

In Township court last week, David R. Loman, 56 Leigh Avenue, was fined $275, sentenced to six months in jail and placed on two years probation for shoplifting at the Super Fresh market. He was also ordered to pay $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board.

Fined $75 in traffic court were Gail O. Denise, 38 Pardoe Road, careless driving, and Seundra J. Gigliotti, 452 Stockton Street, stop sign. John K. Sheridan, 37 Leigh Avenue, was fined $215 for an illegal abandoned vehicle.

In Borough criminal court Monday, Thomas A. Moore 3d, 19 Green Street, was fined a total of $595 and received a 12-month conditional discharge for possession of narcotic paraphernalia. Alfred Kahn, 34 Witherspoon Street, paid $75 after pleading guilty to a housing code violation.

In traffic court, Michael S. Vamedore, 1288 Stuart Road, paid four fines: $515 for operating while his license was suspended; $85 for speeding; $65 for improper display of plates and $25 for overdue inspection. In addition, he was fined an additional $25 on each violation for contempt of court.

$400 Television Set Stolen From Elm Road Home

A $400 television set was stolen overnight last week from an unlocked breezeway between a garage and a home on Elm Road.

The intruder then removed a radar detector from an unlocked 1986 Porsche in the garage and also tried, unsuccessfully, to remove the car's radio.

While a Chicago resident was staying overnight at the Nassau Inn early last week, someone entered her room and stole her briefcase, two sweaters, a pair of sunglasses and her airline ticket. Total value of the items:

$800. Although the room was locked, police said there was no forced entry.

An Apple computer keyboard valued at $245 has been stolen from an unlocked basement storeroom in the Tower Club on Prospect Avenue. Police report the keyboard is owned by a construction worker who is working in the building during the summer.

There was an entry into a North Tulane Street home Friday evening but nothing was taken.

According to Capt. Peter Hanley, when a 21-year-old occupant came home and entered the kitchen around 8, she heard footsteps and the front door slam. A check later revealed the intruder had gained access by opening a rear window.

The victim didn't see anyone, Capt. Hanley said. "She just heard footsteps."

Cash Envelope Is Taken From the Public Library

An envelope containing approximately $150 in cash receipts was stolen last week from a second-floor office in the Princeton Public Library.

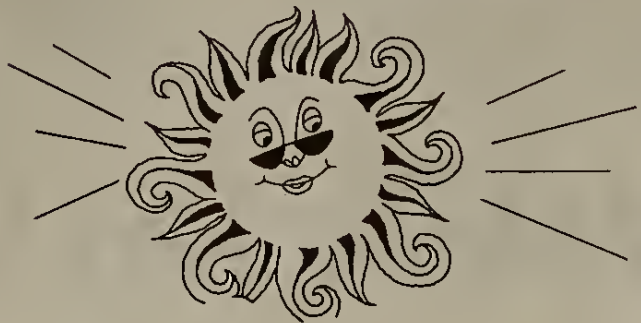

"We're still investigating how it disappeared from a shelf," commented Capt. Peter Hanley. He listed the time of the theft as between 4:45 in the afternoon and 8:45 the next morning.

The same Nassau Street deli, the same modus operandi. Once again, someone stole a bag of bagels worth $3 which had been left in front of the store between 4 and 6:20 in the morning by a supplier. Police again declined to identify the deli.

Someone, too, continues to steal shrubbery from the yards of Township homes. During the weekend, five boxwood bushes, valued at $100 each, were dug up from in front of a home on Pretty Brook Road.

Four cars parked last week in the area of Riverside Drive near the school were entered overnight and rifled.

Three were unlocked. An Alpine AM-FM stereo cassette player and a watch worth a combined $600 were taken from one car; a cassette player and miscellaneous items worth approximately $200 from another and a pair of roller blades valued at $120 from a third.

Police report a rear window was broken to enter a fourth car. Taken from it were a Polaroid camera and a small amount of change.

Some more bicycles disappeared. An unlocked $700 bike was stolen from a Dorann Avenue home where the owner had left it in the driveway, and two bikes ($200 each) were taken from a wooden area by the tow path off South Harrison Street Sunday afternoon between 4:30 and 6:15.

Both bicycles are 10-speed Schwinn models, one red, one burgundy. One victim resides in Lawrenceville, the other is from Plainsboro.

Borough police received a report last week of the theft of a Trek mountain bike valued at $600 from a rack outside Lockhart Hall on the University campus. The student owner told police it was taken between June 5 and July 3.

A 14-year-old Borough youth was charged with stealing a $2.19 breath spray last week from the Super Fresh market in the Princeton Shopping Center. He fled from the store but was later apprehended after a foot chase, by Lt. Mario Musso and Ptl. Mark Emann.

A second youth, who ran out a side door and was later apprehended by Borough police, was not involved in the incident, Lt. Anthony Gaylord reported. The first juvenile was turned over to the Township Juvenile Officer for processing.

Let's Read Together

Princeton Public Library invites readers who have completed kindergarten, first or second grades to polish their reading skills over the summer by reading aloud to Library volunteers.

On Tuesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:30 through August 6, Library listeners will be available to listen, help with hard words, and give encouragement. No registration is necessary; just drop by the Library Children's Room.

"Let's Read Together" was started in 1990 in memory of Mandy Yoder, an enthusiastic reader, and has continued through the generosity of many volunteers. For more information, call the Library at 924-9529.

Evans drove to a nearby house and called for aid. He and the occupant of the house then returned with two fire extinguishers to the burning home where they broke a window near the front door to enter.

Once inside, they detected flames in a closet off the hallway. Mr. Evans and the neighbor, who did not disclose his name, were able to put out most of the fire by the time five fire trucks arrived from the Hopewell Fire Department. Damage was confined to the closet area.

Hopewell Fire Chief John Novak reported that someone had broken into the house, being built by Lovero and Company, to start the fire.

possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Charged with possession of less than 50 grams of marijuana are Michael W. Moorhouse, 29, and Rai B. Sandow, 24. Each was later released in $250 cash bail, pending their court appearance here on September 10.

Police were patrolling the park area because of a concert there. Ptl. Stephan T. Hogan-camp was near a wooded area in Community Park North around 5:30 when he heard someone in front of him cough several times. He detected an odor of marijuana.

As he approached a group of five, he observed Sandow throw a hand-rolled cigarette to the ground and attempt to crush it. As the officer drew nearer to the group he observed that Moorhouse had a three-inch blue metal tin in one of his pockets. It contained a substance believed to be marijuana.

The two were taken to police headquarters, charged and later released on bail.

Couple Here Sentenced For Illegal Exports

A Princeton couple who own an electronics export business in Maple Shade received federal prison terms Monday for illegally selling electronics and scientific equipment to business firms in South Korea.

Kenneth K. Gimm, 14 Fairway Drive, was sentenced to five months house detention and three years probation; his wife Susan, 50, received two months house detention and three years probation. Both are Korean natives.

According to U.S. Assistant Attorney Mark D. Beckett, they were ordered two years ago by the Department of Commerce to stop doing business with South Korea because they didn't possess the proper permits. Instead, Mr. Beckett said, the Gimmis had used four false company names and, between January and July of 1989, ignored the order 36 times.

None of the electronic material they sold to South Korea posed a threat to national security, Mr. Beckett said.

Arsonist Strikes Again In Hopewell House Fire

The sixth arson fire to burn a structure in Hopewell Township or Borough this year occurred last week.

A nearly-complete new home under construction on Route 518 near the intersection of New Road was set on fire Thursday.

Fortunately, Hopewell Fire Company firefighter Andrew Evans was driving by around 7:30 when he observed smoke coming from vents under the eaves.

Institute Will Preview A. Einstein Documentary

The Institute for Advanced Study will host a preview of A. Einstein: How I See the World on Thursday at 8 p.m. The film's director will present additional information on the movie.

A limited number of reservations are available to the public. Call 734-8000.

Albert Einstein is recognized as perhaps the greatest scientific genius of the 20th century, the man whose theory of relativity revolutionized man's understanding of the physical world. But less well known is the Einstein whose concern for the world made him a powerful and outspoken advocate of individual liberty, world peace and nuclear disarmament. A. Einstein: How I See the World reveals the famous physicist as a humanitarian and philosopher who regarded both science and life as an art, a gift and an adventure. The program will air on television as part of the sixth season of the American Masters series, a national presentation from Thirteen/WNET in New York, and will be broadcast July 22 at 9 p.m.

This one-hour film portrait focuses on Einstein's later

For Expectant Mothers

The Princeton Family YMCA Infant/Toddler Center will sponsor a New and Expectant Mothers Coffee Hour. This will be a monthly event with a speaker to discuss relevant issues. The first meeting will be held Friday, July 26, at 10. Those who are planning to attend should call 497-YMCA in advance.

years, from his arrival in the United States in 1933 to his death in 1955, using this period in the physicist's life as a prism to reflect his roots, his scientific achievement, and the ideas and beliefs that inspired him. Much of Einstein's story is told in his own words, through excerpts from his personal letters, diaries, and public speeches and writings. Archival films and photos document the public figure, while home movies and family albums reveal the private man. Also featured are interviews with Einstein's friends and colleagues, including Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling, who discusses Einstein's efforts to encourage nuclear disarmament, and Dr. Thomas Bucky, a close friend, who offers memories from summers spent with the Einstein family.

A. Einstein: How I See the World will also briefly look at Einstein's life in Europe and his groundbreaking theoretical work in physics that won him the Nobel Prize in 1921. Fleeing Nazi Germany in 1933, Einstein eventually came to America, where he was offered a life professorship at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton. He became a United States citizen in 1940.

Two lectures sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson Summer Institutes will take place in the coming week and are open to the public.

Walter H. Lewis will lecture Monday at 7:30 in Kresge Auditorium, Frick Hall. His talk, entitled "Healing Plants of the Amazonian Jivaro Indians," focuses on the medicinal powers of rain forest plants. Prof. Lewis is chairman of the Physics Department at Duke University.

He attended Middlebury College and received his M.A. from the University of Buffalo. He earned his Ph.D. in nuclear physics from Duke and has been a member of the faculty there since 1959. He has also served as dean of faculty, dean of arts and sciences, and vice provost.

Crisis Support Fund Plans First Fundraiser

The Crisis Support Fund is a new organization designed to provide significant financial relief to individuals and families in the greater Mercer County area who have suffered extraordinary financial hardship due to illness, injury or catastrophic occurrence.

There is currently no organized means through which an individual or family in crisis might obtain direct and meaningful financial assistance. The Crisis Support Fund will provide such help to people who find themselves faced with serious financial problems because of a serious illness or disaster of some nature not covered by insurance or other disaster relief. CSF wants to give significant aid to a few people rather than a modicum of assistance to a large number.

Individuals residing in the greater Mercer County area, including portions of Middlesex and Somerset Counties, will be eligible to receive such funding.

CSF will hold its first annual fund-raising event on Friday, September 6, and hopes to make it a lot of fun. It will be a "Wacky Waiter Tip-a-thon" luncheon from 11:30 to 2 at the Hyatt Regency Princeton. Board member Jack Flood will chair the event; Carol Beske and Allen Rowe will emcee the festivities.

Board members of the Crisis Support Fund are Allen Rowe, chair; Sheila Albert, Mimi Ballard, Carol L. Beske, Richard Bilotti, Carol Ducey, John J. Flood, Rachel Gray, Robert Humes, John Morris, Dennis J. O'Malley, Robert Prunetti, Mark Setaro and Nancy Witt.

Climbing Exhibition Will Be Held Sunday

A rock climbing exhibition will take place Sunday at 5 p.m. at the Cradle Rock boulder-field, which straddles Province Line Road on the ridge between Drake's Corner and Stuart Drive in Princeton Township. The exhibition will be held on the east side of the trail, at Crescent Rock.

The site has received attention recently as the proposed location of a 14.5-million-gallon underground water tank by the Elizabethtown Water Co. This event is being held to inform area residents of Crescent Rock's importance to the national climbing community, and why climbers believe another site should be considered by Elizabethtown.

A number of issues will be discussed at the exhibition, and the site's history and unique status will be emphasized.

For further information, call Christopher Spatz at 924-5053.

Children's Program Set With Live Small Animals

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present "Wild Animals" with Laura Cates on Thursday, July 25 at 2:30 p.m. Ms. Cates will bring a variety of small animals to the library and will discuss their behavior and environments.

Registration is required for this program, which is free and open to children of all ages. To register and for further information, call the library at 924-7073.

Murder Mystery Benefit For Mental Health Ass'n

The Association for Advancement of Mental Health is preparing to put on its second annual Murder Mystery Benefit Party.

No suspense about the who, what, when and where: this year's AAMH Murder Mystery Benefit Party will be held at Scanticon-Princeton on Friday, August 2 at 7:30. Tickets are $35 per person and purchase price includes enough Tex-Mex treats for a roomful of suspects, plus cash bar, desserts and audience participation at the scene of the crime. Death, Lies and Videotape will be performed and solved with the help of "guest gumshoes" in the audience assisting with the detective work.

The crime will be committed and orchestrated by "The David Group," a theatrical troupe using an original script written specifically for AAMH and guests. These theater company professionals have a long record of acting throughout New Jersey.

The evening, sponsored by Scanticon-Princeton, benefits the Association for Advancement of Mental Health, 145 Witherspoon Street. AAMH is a private, nonprofit community mental health agency that provides comprehensive services to Mercer County individuals and their families, whose lives are adversely affected by emotional stress, psychiatric illness and developmental disability.

For information and reservations, call Julia Erlichman at 924-7174.

Board Secretary Raider Is Now a Tenured Staffer

On July 5, Robert Raider was automatically given tenure as School Board Secretary. He also holds the title of Assistant Superintendent.

PREPARED: Committee members who have gathered an assortment of weapons for the Second Annual AAMH Murder Mystery Benefit Party include, from left, Jennifer Alaxion, Suzanne Dustlin, Carol Ann Doran, Alam Rambam, Elizabeth Savino, Elizabeth Brady, Robert Savino, and Cindi Van Syckle (kneeling).

By State law, tenure is given automatically to teachers and certain members of the administrative staff after three years and one day on the job. This day, for Dr. Raider, a resident of Bridgewater, was July 5.

Dr. Raider also holds the title of assistant superintendent. He has held this title for less than three years and is thus not yet eligible for tenure in this position.

Gall Walk Saturday At Watershed Reserve

What is a gall and how is it made? Would you eat an oak apple, or play a game with a ball gall? Maybe you'd like to wear a witch's hat.

To make sense of this while discovering the world of galls and gallmakers, join nature enthusiast Jenny Hanson on a stroll through the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Preserve on Saturday at 9 a.m. Participants will meet a number of galls while learning about the lifestyles of some common but not-so-obvious insects. Families and adults are welcome. Meet at the Watershed Association Headquarters building on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township.

This walk, which is part of a series sponsored by Washington Crossing Audubon Society, is free of charge but participants should pre-register by calling 737-7592.

Water Exercise Classes At the Community Pool

The Recreation Department is offering two new water exercise classes this summer at the Community Park Pool. They are to be held on Saturday mornings.

The 9:30 a.m. class is geared toward those interested in a more strenuous water workout. The 10:15 a.m. class focuses on those individuals who are interested in a slower, more relaxed water exercise program. This class may be ideal for older adults.

Eight Will Compete In '91 Special Olympics

Eight Princeton residents are heading to Minneapolis/St. Paul, Minn., to compete in the 1991 International Special Olympics Summer Games on July 19-27. They are among 101 New Jersey Special Olympics athletes who will participate.

All athletes participating in the Games started the qualification procedures by winning a gold medal in State competition over the past two years.

All eight Princeton athletes are members of the soccer team. They are, Fred Goode, who was a member of the basketball team in the 1987 games; Anthony Grieder, who has been involved with Special Olympics for three years; Christopher Gruchacz, who has served as goalie for the state soccer Special Olympics champions for the last three years; Frank Lippincott, who has reached the International Level after only one year in Special Olympics competition;

Also, Larry Outlaw, a member of the 1987 International Basketball team and winner of the shot put in the 1988 New Jersey Summer Games; Frank Pastelak, who has been involved in Special Olympics for seven years in soccer, basketball, softball, and athletics; Robert Payne, a three-year veteran of the Special Olympics; and Thomas Williams, whose most vivid memory in Special Olympics is the time he carried the Olympic Torch for Senator Bill Bradley on its way to the 1984 Summer Games in Los Angeles.

cussed at a meeting of Council and Committee the following month. The allocation was to be subject to both municipal governing bodies agreeing on how and where the library would expand.

Council has recently introduced an ordinance appropriating the $55,000. The public hearing before final adoption is scheduled for Thursday, August 8.

Thus each governing body came to last week's joint meeting with a different perspective, having already taken different actions in regard to the library, and having differing ideas on the purpose of the meeting. The meeting, therefore, was confused and even a little chaotic. Mayor Richard C. Woodbridge was not present, because his mother had been hospitalized as the result of an automobile accident.

Deputy Mayor Ellen Souter had said earlier in the evening that Committee was not prepared to make decisions on a number of major capital requests for the Fire Department without Mayor Woodbridge's input as Fire Commissioner. Seeing that Committee was also not going to make decisions in regard to the Library, Lucy Mackenzie said, "This is very upsetting. There is no will to do this (expand the library). Let's face it, if we wanted to do it, we would."

Mrs. Souter said she had thought the meeting was to be "informational" and reminded everyone that the Township had taken the lead in setting aside $55,000 in its capital budget but had not had the benefit of the presentation from Library officials that the Council had had.

She said that since the Township surveys had come in showing strong support for the library moving to the Shopping Center she would like another week to review them. Councilman Mark Freda said, "I'm not convinced the downtown is a do-or-die location, or that moving to the Shopping Center will hurt the library or cause people not to go."

Support for Site Study

Mr. Freda said he would support $55,000 for studying the Shopping Center site but that the other members of Council probably would not agree with him. He said he was concerned that the need to provide additional parking at the library if it remained on Witherspoon Street would be a cost to the taxpayer over and above the costs of the expansion.

He questioned the library's estimates of building costs and said, "If we can bring the cost [of the library] down it would be a lot easier to make a decision and for the people to accept it."

Jacquelyn Thresher agreed with Mr. Freda that "the library can function equally well either place. We know people will come to us — the situation on Witherspoon Street today has shown us that." She said that a rectangular building with two floors instead of three would be a better option from the library's point of view, but the municipalities had said the costs had to be phased.

"We couldn't figure out how to stage Epstein's," Ms. Thresher said. She pointed out that the preliminary costs to renovate the Epstein's building would be higher and just using one floor would not be enough of a space advantage.

"What you are telling us is to study both options," Ms. Thresher continued. "We could find out if it really is more expensive. We would have facts so that the decision could be based on facts, not an emotional reaction."

Without a vote, there were clear indications that Borough Council was not willing to fund the extra $25,000 to study the Epstein's option. Mrs. Mackenzie said trying to sell the existing library would be a "nightmare."

Deputy Mayor Souter sought to set up an extra Committee meeting at which the Library would make a presentation and Committee would agree on a location. Whereupon Committeeman Leonard Godfrey asked, "What happens if Township votes for the Shopping Center and Borough Council votes for the downtown? What do we do then?"

"That's my nightmare exactly," Ms. Thresher remarked.

Urged to Move Forward

Speaking from the audience, Heidi Hughes urged the two governing bodies to move forward on appropriating money for a study. "Informed people make the best decisions," Ms. Hughes said, "but we need to make tracks. We need it, and let's move forward." When asked by Mrs. Mackenzie whether she wanted one site or two studied, she said one, the downtown Borough.

Helen Fairbanks, however, urged Council and Committee to have two studies made. "There has never been a detailed discussion of Epstein's," Ms. Fairbanks said.

In the end it was agreed that the Library will make a presentation at the regular Township Committee meeting on Monday, July 22, and that there will be at least one, possibly two, joint meetings of Council and Committee to discuss the Library on Wednesday, July 31, and Thursday, August 1.

'Telesquirt' Fire Truck

In other business, Council agreed to "plan" to appropriate $400,000 in 1992 for the new "telesquirt" fire truck the Fire Department is requesting. Committee meanwhile will ask the two fire commissioners to make a recommendation about this expenditure before it decides.

The discussion of Fire Department needs was marked by the same backing and forthright that also characterized the discussion of the Library's requested $55,000. At one point, Fire Chief Patrick Root said, "Every time we come up here you just argue among yourselves and nothing ever gets done."

In addition to the telesquirt, the Fire Department is asking for $60,000 in 1992 to upgrade its breathing apparatus, and projecting the need for $250,000 in 1993 for building improvements, $50,000 in 1994 for protective clothing, and $100,000 in radio communications equipment for 1995.

It was agreed that cost of removing underground fuel oil tanks at the three fire houses, plus removing asbestos, could be very expensive, but no decisions were made as to when to begin undertaking these projects.

Borough Council also made it clear to Township Committee that it was not in a position to assist in the acquisition of open space to the tune of half a million dollars annually over the next six years.

Princeton Day School Duo Hopes To Make Its Mark on Rock Scene

Princeton has proved to be fertile soil for young musicians. There's the lead singer for Spin Doctors, every member of Blues Traveler, and, hoping to follow in their path, there's No Outlet.

No Outlet is composed of two Princeton Day School seniors, Todd A. Hovanec, of Princeton, and Eric Guinta of Skillman. They recently recorded a tape of their original rock music, and have been selling it to family and friends to try to recoup the $700 they paid for the recording session and tapes.

They wrote the words and music for all the songs, which have such titles as "What It's All About," "Living in Strife," and "Tale of Woe." Eric Guinta is the singer, and both young men do the instrumentals.

"Everyone has a dream of doing this professionally," said Mr. Hovanec. "But I don't know if I'm going to pursue this as a first choice."

He said he would like to write music like the classical composers, such as Bach, but can't do that. So he writes contemporary music, and is a fan of Arrowsmith and Led Zepelin.

A teenage fan of rock music, who listened to the tape, said that the music was very good, and some was actually better than that produced commercially.

Both young men wanted their music heard by more than their families and friends. So Mr. Hovanec last week decided to send out some tapes to record companies and a press release to area newspapers.

"My mom started her own puzzle magazine for children," he said. "She sent out a press release. So I thought, why not give it a try."

The name of the album is Patchwork. To quote their release, "This tape is available to anyone who wants it for $5. It has ten songs and features different types of rock influences. For a copy or information call Todd at 466-2059 or write him at 24 Copper Vail Court, Princeton 08540."

years. Ms. Oppenheimer has taught at the YM/YWCA, Nassau Presbyterian Church, St. Josephs College, and Delaware County Community College.

Marine Lance Cpl. Lamont A. Fletcher, son of Lamont A. Fletcher Sr., 41 Mulberry Row, recently completed the Basic Electronics Course.

A 1982 graduate of Princeton High School, he joined the Marine Corps in March, 1984.

Benjamin R. Danson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence N. Danson, 158 Cedar Lane, and Helen K. Pinneo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everard K. Pinneo, 31 Vandeventer Avenue, have attained dean's list status, the second highest recognition for academic achievement, for the spring term at Middlebury College.

Central Campus Should Be Off Limits to Construction

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I recently sent this letter to Princeton University president Horold Shopiro in regard to the TOWN TOPICS report on the proposed extension to 1879 Hall. I hope others in the community will be as concerned as I both at the procedures so far followed and the project itself.

I am writing to you both as a member of the faculty and as a graduate of Princeton. It is unfortunate that I had to find out about the planned construction of the Center for Human Values in TOWN TOPICS (July 10, 1991). The proposed facility, like others before it including Bendheim-Fischer Hall in which I now reside, has moved to an advanced stage of planning without any debate or discussion within the university community.

In my senior year at Princeton, 1960/61, I lived in 1879 Hall. My roommates and I came to love what was then a much more ample space directly behind the building and abutting Prospect. Although considerably diminished, it is still a lovely space, but from the sound of the proposed center, it will be irreparably damaged. The trees there are magnificent, and for my values worth more than any brick and mortar that might replace them.

My ardent hope is that the entire central campus from Molecular Biology at the bottom and Nassau Street at the top, and bounded by Washington Road and Univerity Place, be placed off limits for any significant new building.

Around Jadwin and Denunzio we have acres of parking lots, over which or in place of which new buildings could be constructed. There are other such possibilities. I know they are not as central as 1879 Hall, but preserving the central campus as it is should take precedence over some minor inconveniences.

I know that many generous donors to the University want to see parts of their gifts translated into physical plant. Sometimes there is a real need for that; other times there are existing structures that can be converted to new uses or existing structures bought by the University.

I read that the proposed Center will have 25 academic offices. This is peculiar in that I was under the impression that the Center did not have plans

Library Decision at Crucial Point

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Library Alert! Monday night, July 22, is likely to be the date of a determining decision regarding the location of our Library. Township Committee is meeting that night and is under strong pressure from Borough Council to vote to appropriate its half of $55,000 for a site review of the Witherspoon site only. And once that's done, there's no more Epstein's option.

For an extra $10,000 from each municipality we could have reviews of both locations — CBD and Epstein's. Not to do so is short-sighted planning, especially when so many Township residents feel so strongly about the parking situation. (Note: 63% of Library users are Township residents, a large proportion of whom must drive and park in order to use the Library.)

Library patrons from the Township who have to pay parking fees in order to use their "free" public library have a special right to full consideration on this issue, since the revenues enrich the Borough's coffers. No commitment should be made to expand at the Witherspoon site until a satisfactory agreement is signed with the Borough regarding Library parking. Otherwise, the Borough will just thumb its nose at us as they have in the past and we'll be left holding a bag of hot air.

Also — no garage. We've been through this before, a few years ago. At that time, a number of people expressed their (well-founded) fear of such structures. Not to mention that it would be another eyesore in the CBD. There's not much spaciousness left downtown as it is.

And as of this writing there are still other options left. For instance the Epstein site would be preferable from the usage standpoint with its two large floors rather than three more cramped ones at a built-up Witherspoon building.

One argument for retaining the present location I reject out of hand: the Library's value to the CBD. A similar case could be made vis a vis the Shopping Center — but that is not the purpose of a library.

Another red herring is the subject of school children's after-school use of the Public Library. However, three of our five schools (Littlebrook, John Witherspoon and the high school) are actually closer to the Shopping Center, Community Park is about equi-distant from both, and Johnson Park is so far out that most students are bused or driven or bike. Furthermore, with traffic lights spaced along Harrison Street, safety is not a problem.

And for residents who have been accustomed to walking to the Library and would need transportation to the Shopping Center, there is convenient bus service.

As to economic considerations — and we're talking something like $10 million, of which Township homeowners and businesses will pay $6.5 million: according to Harry Levine, who chaired the Citizens Advisory Committee on Library Facilities, the economics of the siting question are about on a par at either Witherspoon or the Shopping Center, when you factor in sale of the present facility. And I'm wondering about the "phasing-in" idea (which would apparently not work at Epstein's), where a gradual start would be made in 1992 and then over $7 million would be allocated in 1993, with the balance budgeted in 1994.

I recommend that more thought be given to the possible economies of one-stage rather than two-stage construction, and also to the fact that construction costs and interest rates will probably start trending upward soon. Especially with the advantages that inhere in the Shopping Center location, this type of phased-in planning has no merit that I can discern.

I am speaking as a Township resident of 25 years and a professional librarian for even longer. My seminal training came in my first professional job after graduation from Columbia's Library School when Susie Campbell, at Denver Public Library, put an emphasis on service that has remained with me as a guiding principle.

In this present instance, I don't feel Library patrons as a whole and those from the Township in particular are being well served by the Borough-fueled push to keep our Library in situ. The right answer has not yet been found. I ask the members of our governing bodies to keep in mind that the most valuable collection in the world is practically valueless if its public does not have easy access to it.

for much new hiring of faculty. I would have to conclude that the University is creating new office space for faculty and staff that presumably already have offices. If so, a more modest facility might still meet the Center's needs.

When a project, such as this one, that touches the aesthetic core of the University campus, is under consideration, I believe that it should be debated by all of us who use the campus on a daily basis. I also strongly believe that there should be a moratorium on all new construction on the central campus. I hope that with this letter, I may stimulate a debate of these issues.

Princeton's Two Mayors Give Town Extra Clout

To the Editor of Town Topics:
They were there.

Both our mayors were there — Mr. Marvin Reed, Democrat, Mayor of Princeton Borough and Mr. Richard Woodbridge, Republican, Mayor of Princeton Township.

The occasion was a July 9 hearing of the New Jersey Department of Transportation about DOT's plan to widen Routes 27 and 206 from two-lane to four-lane roads. The DOT maps show four lanes going through the center of Princeton. The opposition to this was strong, consisting of officials and leaders, who spoke exceedingly well, and many residents who had come by bus and by car.

There are other occasions where mayors of various municipalities meet together over shared concerns. They each come with direct knowledge about the place they represent and with responsibility for the people in that place. They also live there.

For this reason we need both our mayors. Would we have been as well represented at the DOT hearing by one mayor, or possibly by an assistant?

We say "we" and we say "our" because we belong to the "Princeton area," which we measure by foot, by bicycle and by car. At the same time we are grateful that a responsible administration and an elected official govern our "old quarter," the Borough of Princeton. We are grateful that another administration and another elected official govern the Township of Princeton.

We belong to the County of Mercer, the State of New Jersey and the United States of America. Let us not lose our sense of belonging on all these necessary levels of administration, responsibility and citizenship.

An Inaccurate Statement Made by Chief Michaud

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is apparent to me that the new Princeton Borough Police Chief has learned some of his predecessor's tricks of dealing with the press quite well: Specifically, when forced into a corner by the truth, lie, dodge and/or manipulate but never admit the truth. "There is nothing we have that says we can't chase someone," Chief Michaud is quoted as saying [TOWN TOPICS' June 19 article concerning a lawsuit against the Borough Police].

General Order 83-3 issued by former chief Michael Carnevale concerning high speed pursuit is self-explanatory. It also tells me that the Princeton Borough Police have failed to come to grips with the fact that we (Patricia and Elmer Kollar) are very serious about pursuing this lawsuit as far as it will go; also, that the Princeton Borough Police Department has never been faced with a similar situation and they keep thinking it will blow away — or the plaintiffs will be bought off. That will not happen.

But let us give Chief Michaud the benefit of the doubt. Let us assume for a moment that he told you the truth which means:

A. He was not aware of 83-3
B. 83-3 never existed prior to May 1, 1986. So what?

Chief Carnevale wrote 83-3 after May 1, 1986, backdated it to September 8, 1983.

And when asked to produce any and all policies and regulations pertaining to high speed chases, Chief Carnevale turns to the September 8, 1983 policy.

Note: At their depositions, Patrolmen Lozier and Dawson stated they had never seen or heard of 83-3. Interesting! A jury will find all of the facts interesting.

Your article was objective, fair and complete. Thank you.

Support for Elimination Of Harry's Brook Bridge

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Despite some misgivings that I have regarding the expansion of Routes 206 and 27 from two to four lanes, I fully support the destruction of the Harry's Brook bridge. I also support the elimination of the railroad bridge on Route 206 at Belle Mead.

Both structures, in my opinion, are accident-prone, have outlived their usefulness, and should be eliminated for driver safety. Those who support these bridges should haul them off to some museum where they can be enjoyed.

divided into three heats. Once around Palmer Square, holding a tray containing two glasses filled with champagne and a small bottle of Perrier-Jouet, one of the sponsors.

Like a referee advising two prize-fighters before a big fight, Nelson Zager, head innkeeper at Nassau Inn, carefully explained the race rules and conditions before each heat, mindful, perhaps, of last year, when the apparent winner, Christian Corre, a visiting research assistant from Brittany, France, was later disqualified and threatened to sue the Inn.

A contestant in the first heat, was John Woodside, owner of Competitive Sport on Palmer Square and one of the area's premier distance runners. For John, running ten miles proved to be a lot easier than running a few hundred feet. He discovered trying to keep his tray steady was tricky indeed and he finished out of the running.

Ealy won the first heat, nosing out Fox. The Winberie crew was outside in force, lending full support to their own.

The top three in each heat advanced to the championship heat.

A tense, last minute contestant in the final heat was 9-year-old Jennifer Fruzzetti of Philadelphia, whose father works with the Inn in organizing the event. She was so nervous, she recalled later, that her hands were shaking. Twice before the starting line dropped, her tray fell to the roadway, spilling bottle and glasses.

"Really Fun"

When the heat got off, Jennifer had gone about 50 feet when the tray flew out of her hands again. Yes, she was disappointed but it was really fun, she said.

Another finalist in the last heat was Cynthia Sauer of Western Way, a fund raiser for the University who, like Jennifer, had entered the race on the spur of the moment. She, too, dropped her tray before the start of her heat but an even worse contretemps lay ahead.

At the start of the championship heat, Sauer, closest to the curb, tripped over the red, white and blue starting line when it did not drop cleanly from the meter to which it was attached. She tumbled hard to the pavement, her tray and its contents flying skyward.

The final heat, Mr. Zager ruled, should be restarted. The front runners, some already out of sight around the post office, were called back. Minutes later, Ealy blew away the competition.

One who thoroughly enjoyed the event — though not a contestant — was Mayor Marvin Reed. Reed, outfitted in his Perrier-Jouet white T-shirt and white hat, as was Council member Mildred Trotman, was obviously having a good time trying to help out.

When last seen, trying to get the final heat contestants lined up, he was heard to ask, "Where's number 11?"

Vive the Bastille Day celebration. Vive Princeton.

—Pres Eckmeder

THE WINNER: Jim Ealy, a waiter at J.B. Winberle, wins the Bastille Day Waiters' Race, outdistancing all his competitors by a wide margin.

OLIVER TWIST NURSERY & DAY CARE CENTER, INC.

Nickie Oliver, Director

Once through the door at OLIVER TWIST NURSERY & DAY CARE CENTER children, as well as adults, quickly sense an aura of warmth, caring, and happiness; a place that sparkles with color, where books and blocks line the shelves, and the sounds of children's laughter fill the air.

Director Nickie Oliver, having her M.Ed. and over 20 years of experience in education, has obviously worked long and hard to provide West Windsor and the surrounding communities with a facility that not only offers a secure, supportive, visually stimulating environment for children aged 2½ through 6, but also offers a variety of programs, including a K-afternoon activity session for children attending the district's Kindergarten program. This school is prepared to give children programs and activities to meet the needs of working parents and busy Moms and Dads.

Quality child care begins with a commitment on the part of the staff to know and understand the growth and development of children at all ages. Believing in a philosophy that each child is a unique individual, this nursery/day care center provides an atmosphere that allows children to individually experience and develop skills at their own pace, while building self-confidence, developing social relationships, engaging in language development and encouraging a positive self-image. Nickie Oliver takes great pride in the fact that her staff is personally interested in each child and gives them the individual attention that parents should expect for their children.

It's no wonder that OLIVER TWIST NURSERY & DAY CARE CENTER was again invited back to provide the day care arrangements for the Congressmen's children while their parents attended the 2nd Congressional Conference held at the Merrill Lynch facility this past spring.

Licensed by the state of N.J., with a fully certified staff, and ready to bring hours of delight and happiness to your child; you'll find the center nestled in a quiet country setting at 804 Village Road West, West Windsor. With their open door policy, parents are encouraged to stop by any time to visit, observe, and meet the friendly professional people who care for your children. For more information, call (609) 275-5641.

NEITHER GETS WHAT'S EXPECTED: Breezy (Larysa Wityk) is a hooker, and Lou (Mark Moede) is her reluctant John in S. Michael Schnessel's original comedy "Happily Ever After," presented by Stage One Productions at the Studio Theater of the Fine Arts Building, Rider College, this weekend end next.

Some Telling Truths About Marriage In Stage One's "Happily Ever After"

"Happily Ever After," a collection of two one-act plays and two short monologues presented by Stage One in the Studio Theater at Rider College, takes the audience and its characters on a roller coaster ride of shocks, surprises, laughs and some telling truths about marriage.

Written by local playwright S. Michael Schnessel, these comic pieces are occasionally predictable and offer few profound revelations on their subjects of contemporary love, dating and marriage, but the tone is light, the pace is quick and the evening is a pleasant one.

The more successful of the two longer works, For Better or Worse, stars W. Warren Moede as Lou, a nervous and reluctant venetian blind salesman who is meeting what appears to be a prostitute, played by Larysa Wityk, in a seedy hotel room. Mr. Schnessel, however, plants many twists and turns, makes forays into the world of psychiatry and marriage counseling, and springs surprising revelations for characters and audience before the half-hour play reaches its satisfying conclusion.

The tone of the play shifts rapidly back and forth between comic and serious, with the characters' emotions running the gamut from anger, frustration and fear to humor, and love. Mr. Moede and Ms. Wityk are effective and convincing throughout.

An Unlikely Couple

Dearly Beloved, the one-act holding down the first half of the program, features an unlikely young couple, played by Christopher Scordo and Dara Ellen Breitkopf in a crisis moment on the day before their wedding. He is a thoroughly blue-collar, sports-loving, beer-drinking long-distance trucker, and she is Miss Analytical Sociologist, a graduate student who has just turned their wedding rehearsal into a disaster by declaring that she can't go through with the marriage.

Already smoldering when the lights rise on the Brooklyn bachelor-apartment setting, the conflict heats up as each must face some shocking and amusing truths, and they both realize how much there is to learn about the other.

Here too, Mr. Schnessel springs on his unsuspecting audience more than a few bizarre twists in plot and character, as well as some funny lines. Implausibilities, however, in dialogue, characterization, motivation and in the situation itself strain the audience's ability to feel much concern for the characters or to take this for more than a sit-com farce.

In There's Always a Catch (Parts I and II), Suzie Bertin opens the first and second acts with appealing bursts of energy and optimism. Dressed in a wild pink and black combination, she pluckily recounts the tale of her wedding night catastrophe, then returns in Act II to describe subsequent misfortunes as she learned all about "smart shopping" with the Happily Ever After Dating Service.

"A girl's just gotta be persistent — that's all," she advises, and Ms. Bertin personifies persistence, as well as focus and energy, in a winning and memorable, though brief, character portrayal.

The whole production, directed by Mark Murphy, moves swiftly and smoothly, and the settings by Peter Avagliano — a highly detailed bachelor's pad in the first act and a low-budget hotel room in the second — are realistic, appropriate and effective in the intimate quarters of the Studio Theater.

"Happily Ever After," second show of the summer season for artistic director Nick Procaccino and his Stage One Productions, will play at the Rider College Fine Arts Building over the next two weekends, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. on Sunday. Call 683-0444 for reservations and further information.

Seduction and Betrayal Next at Summer Cinema

Seduction and betrayal are explored in the Summer Cinema double feature attraction for July 19 through 21: Paul Mazursky's Enemies, A Love Story and Stephen Frears' Dangerous Liaisons.

Summer Cinema is located in the air-conditioned Kresge Auditorium on Washington Road at Williams Street. Discount books for 10 double-feature admissions are on sale for $35 at the McCarter box office and are available at Kresge Auditorium during showtime. Single admission to all double feature programs is $4.75. For more information call the McCarter box office at 683-8000.

Enemies, A Love Story is Paul Mazursky's adaptation of Isaac Bashevis Singer's 1973 novel about survivors of the Holocaust, washed up on the shores of New York in the late '40s, looking at the teeming, prosperous society around them with a mixture of fearfulness and hope. Thinking that his first wife was killed by the Nazis, Herman Broder (Ron Silver) has married the Polish servant (Margaret Sophie Stein) who saved his life.

Meanwhile, he leaves home on Coney Island and rushes to the Bronx to visit his passionate, "crazy, married mistress Masha (Lena Olin), a survivor of the camps. And if things were not deceitful enough, his strong, sardonic first wife Tamara (Anjelica Huston) shows up on the Lower East Side. And so, Herman spends his entire life on the subway and in bed, loving and disappointing all three of them.

TWO CHARACTER ROMANCE: Cheryl McGinnis and Marty Sherman star in Princeton Summer Theatre's "Same Time, Next Year," which opens Thursday at Murray Theatre.

The co-feature, Dangerous Liaisons is director Stephen Frears' adaptation of the Christopher Hampton play about sexual betrayal and aristocratic intrigue. It's a Machiavellian chronicle of the sport of seduction, in which the masters of the game are the Marquise de Merteuil (Glenn Close) and the Vicomte de Valmont (John Malkovich), who have once been lovers.

The double feature attractions for July 23 to July 25 are dedicated to two original and ingenious filmmakers: Jane Campion's Sweetie and Jim Jarmusch's Mystery Train. Australian director Jane Campion's original first feature is a quirky and compassionate portrait of an eccentric, dysfunctional family, centering on the ambivalent relationship between two sisters, in an opening that mixes screwball comedy and fairy tale romance. Kay, an edgy bundle of phobias and repressions, uses tealeaves and audacity to snare a handsome Prince Charming less than an hour after he has become engaged to another woman.

The fairy tale is already turning sour when Kay's rigidly controlled life is disrupted by the arrival of her unbalanced sister, "Sweetie," an overweight daddy's girl whose monstrous self-indulgence and ungovernable life force represent everything Kay fears. Campion's sharp eye for oddness and obsession, her dark offbeat humor and her subversive overlapping of the bizarre and the normal — a kind of laconic Australian Gothic — is completely her own.

The co-feature for the evening, Mystery Train, is the most accessible film to date by the inventive, iconoclastic director Jim Jarmusch. His subject is the mythic landscape of America, and the setting is Memphis, a pop-culture mecca where all roads lead to Elvis. The film's ingenious game-like structure presents three interlocking stories, each one set on the same night, leading to the same fleabag hotel, centering on foreigners, and invoking the presence of the King in some way.

The first is a high spirited tale of two Japanese teenagers on a rock 'n roll pilgrimage across America; the second concerns an Italian woman, en route to Rome with her husband's coffin; the third is an episode of edgy slapstick violence with a jilted Brit and his two drinking buddies. Linking these tales are vaudeville routines involving a bellboy and a night clerk played with hilarious gravity by Screamin' Jay Hawkins in a screaming red suit.

Joy H. Barth will be the featured artist at the Studio Gallery in Hopewell through August 30. A reception for the artist will be held Saturday from 5 to 7.

Her innovative works of sculpted canvasses in oil, textural assemblages, and collages have won Ms. Barth many awards and prizes in New Jersey and Pennsylvania art shows. She was selected as an exhibitor in the recent art show sponsored by TAWA of Trenton that travelled to Moscow.

The Studio Gallery is located at 57 Princeton Avenue at the Ebony and Ivory Boutique and Barbra's Studio.

The Trenton Artists Workshop Association will continue its summer series with an exhibit entitled "The Artist's Personal Metaphor." The exhibit will open with a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, July 27, at Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum in Cadwalader Park, and will remain on view until August 18. After closing at Ellarslie, the exhibit will travel to Glassboro State College, where it will be on view from September 6 until mid-October.

On display will be new or previously unshown works by TAWA artists which they feel are the best representations of their personal artistic vision. Accompanying these works will be statements by the artists describing what each of them is attempting to achieve in the artworks.

Included in the show will be works by sculptors Jonathan Shahn of Roosevelt, Leon Bibel of North Brunswick, and Sally Brennan of Plainsboro; printmaker Idaherma Williams of Princeton; photographer Paula Bellando of Trenton; painters Mel Leipzig and Marguerite Doernbach of Trenton, Mary Bundy and Katharine Durbetaki of Princeton, Daniel Finaldi of Highland Park, Andy Hall of Hopewell, Paul Matthews of Lambertville, and Harry Naar of Lawrenceville; computer artist Rebecca Stuckey of Trenton, illustrator Kate Hammett of Plainsboro, and artist Deborah Pohl of New Brunswick.

Acrylic and watercolor paintings by Dallas Piotrowski will be on exhibit at the Conant Gallery, Educational Testing Service, through August 23.

Eight works in the show portray sunflowers in various stages of bloom. The remaining works feature lavender and crimson orchids and a series of New Jersey wildflower botanical watercolors.

Final Week Under Way For the Legion League

As the final week of the regular season in the Mercer County American Legion League winds both Princeton Post 218 and Princeton Post 76 made news in the previous week.

For Post 218 there was one game that stands out above all the others: it defeated rival Post 76, 5-4, on Friday at Mercer Park in a darkness-shortened, six-inning contest. It marked the first time ever that Post 218 has defeated a team higher than it is in the standings.

For Post 76, the news was that there was little to cheer about in the previous week. It lost five in a row before defeating Trenton, 14-2, on Monday to fall two games under .500 at 10-12 and probably out of contention for a playoff berth.

Post 218 will play its final home game this Wednesday at 5:45 when it entertains Hightstown at its Valley Road field. Its last game will be Thursday evening at 7:30 at Lawrence Post 414. Post 76 was scheduled to meet Mitchell Davis earlier in the week before ending its season on Thursday at Bordentown.

"It was great. I felt good for the kids; it was a good show by everybody," said Post 218 manager Tom Parker of the win over Post 76. "The kids wanted this game more than anything. If they didn't win another game all season, this is the one they would have wanted." In a previous meeting, Post 76 has slaughtered Post 218, 27-2.

"It's a nice win for them," agreed Post 76 manager Jerry Price. "They've been playing hard every game all season and it's paid off."

Post 218 had its share of standouts. Dave Long was one.

WILSON OUT AT SECOND: Princeton Post 218's Dan Wilson, who singled in the first, is thrown out attempting to steal second, in Thursday's 8-1 loss to Hightstown.

Long greeted Gary Botto, Post 76's third pitcher, by crunching a curveball in the fourth inning for a triple that scored Chris Healey. Healey then came home on a passed ball with what proved to be the winning run.

"Dave was super," agreed Parker. "His hat kept the rally alive." Long then came in to relieve starter Matt Baum in the final inning. He struck out the first two to face him and then got the final out on a grounder.

Left fielder Matt Sheridan was another standout. He had two hits (Post 218 had only four in the game) and his first, a two-out, two-run single staked Post 218 to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning.

Baum pitched the first five innings, allowed seven hits and walked four. But he was a survivor. "It was not one of Matt's better games but he was able to hold them off," said Parker.

Post 76 loaded the bases twice in the first inning and came away with just one run. In the second, Post 76 jammed the bases again with the same result: just one run scored. Said Baum, "We really came together in this game; we made the key plays when we needed them."

Scott Petrone had two hits for Post 76, which stranded 10 runners. The win for Baum was his first after four losses.

On Sunday, Post 218 lost its chance to win two in a row for the first time when it faced Mitchell Davis, a team it had beaten twice this season.

M-D pitcher Roh Williams fanned 10 Princeton batters and scattered seven hits, as the victors led 6-1 after six innings against Darren Horangic, who started and went the distance for Post 218. Long had three hits and drove in two runs for the losers, while Baum had two hits and drove in one run. The win was only the third in 21 starts this season for Mitchell Davis.

In two other starts last week, Post 218 was not in contention. It was beaten, 8-1, by visiting Hightstown on Thursday, as Brian Field limited the home team to five hits. Matt DeVeau, playing first base while Chris Healey, the regular first baseman pitched, had three of those five hits. Healey was touched for 11 hits, including run-scoring triples by Matt Schilling and Dan Stewart. Two days earlier, Broad Street Park breezed to its 14th win by stopping Post 218, 15-3. Long and Jeff Sprague combined for four of Princeton's six hits. BSP scored in every inning but one off three Post 218 pitchers. Horangic, who started, took the loss.

In between, Post 218 suffered one of those, could-of, should-of-won games, howing to Lawrence, 11-9.

Behind the hitting of Baum (three hits, two RBIs) Dave Wise and Healey (two hits each) and Long (one hit, two RBIs) Post 218 led 9-7 after five innings in the see-saw contest.

Lawrence leftfielder Jermaine Shy was the one player Post 218 could not get out. In the sixth, Shy belted a two-run triple, his third extra base hit of the game, to drive in the tying and winning runs. He ended with four runs batted in. Teammates Joe Quinty and Keith Bridgewater also had three hits each for Lawrence. Wise and Dan Wilson doubled for Post 218. The win was No. 13 in 18 starts for the surprising Lawrence club.

Botto Ends 76 Skid

Gary Botto, the workhorse on the Post 76 mound staff which has been beset with injuries (four hurlers have been lost for the season) halted his team's losing streak Sunday when he tossed a four-hitter against Trenton Post 93. The 14-2 win was his fourth in nine decisions.

Nursing a 3-1 lead after four innings, Post 76 rallied for four runs in the fifth and then erupted for seven more in the sixth. Mike Andolina had the big bat for Post 76 with four hits in five at bats and two RBIs. Mike Spruill stroked three hits in driving in two runs, while Brent Papciak, Paul Pearlman and Steve Hsueh also drove in two runs for the victors.

On Thursday, there was an excruciating loss to Trenton. After Post 76 had scored a run in the top of the last inning to take a 5-4 lead, Trenton came back to tie the score on a throwing error and then win the game on an RBI single by Mike Seiler.

Winning pitcher Travis Maxwell limited Post 76 to six hits, including two each by Andolina

Strangely enough, there was once a big league baseball park in which it was ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO HIT A HOME RUN! ... It was Braves Field in Boston, which was in use from 1915 till the Braves moved out of Boston in 1953 ... NOBODY hit a homer over the fence there the first 2 years the park was used ... And in 6 years, only 2 homers were hit there ... It was over 400 feet down each foul line and over 550 feet to center field — making it the highest ball park in playing area in major league history ... The distances were later shortened, but for many years Braves Field was the all-time pitchers' paradise.

Here's a baseball oddi-ty ... The Chicago Cubs won the World Series in consecutive years — 1907 and 1908 — and they haven't won it since!

I bet you didn't know ... that we are moving to 14 Main Street, Kingston, N.J. (the building next to the Canal across from the Wine Press) on AUGUST 2nd.

What was unusual about the baseball trade between the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians on Aug. 3, 1960? ... They didn't trade players ... They traded managers ... The Tigers traded their manager, Jimmy Dykes, to the Indians for Indians manager, Joe Gordon ... It's the only time in history that 2 big league clubs traded managers.

HEALEY IN THE WINDUP: Princeton Post 218 pitcher Chris Healey winds up, making a rare start against Hightstown Post 148. Hightstown won, 8-1.

and Peter Nolan. Botto, the fourth 76 hurler, pitched only two-thirds of an inning but had to absorb the loss.

Earlier, six hits, two each by Petrone and Matt McClanahan, was all Post 76 could muster in a 6-3 loss to Broad Street Park.

It began the week with a 16-8 loss to Hightstown, although it outhit the Post 148 team, 10-9.

Hightstown scored 13 runs in the last three innings. Chief tormentors of Post 76 were second baseman Matt Schilling, who drove in three runs on two hits and first baseman Joe Hoffman, who plated four runs on two hits.

Post 76 right fielder Greg Mika had a big game at the plate with a triple and two singles, driving in two runs.

Monday Blues

Monday brought no better news for the two Princeton clubs.

Post 218 was routed, 11-0, by second place Broad Street Park to fall to 5-17, while Post 76 bowed, 11-3, to Hightstown. Its record is 10-13.

Two BSP pitchers allowed just three hits — singles by Long, Wilson and Wise — in blanking Post 218. In contrast, BSP jumped on Post 218 starter Colin Apse for four runs in the first inning to win for the 18th time in 22 starts.

Take away one inning and Post 76 wins. But Hightstown exploded for nine runs in the sixth inning to break up a close 2-1 game. Once again, Price was forced to use a bevy of relievers after starter Mike Andolina got rocked for five runs in the victors' big inning. Hsueh lasted a third of an inning, Petrone two-thirds, while Nick Hsieh hurled a scoreless last inning.

McClanahan and Sharif Aboelnaga combined for four hits — half of Post 76's eight. Hightstown collected 11 in winning for the 15th time.

Tournament Trip Is Over For Princeton/Montgomery

The clock struck 12 — twice — for the Princeton-Montgomery team last week in the District One 15-and-under Babe Ruth Tournament being held in Lawrence Township.

Ewing eliminated P-M Thursday, 12-0, as the losers lost for the second time in the double elimination event. In its previous start, Princeton-Montgomery was routed 21-0 by the Hamilton Nationals, the tournament favorite. Ewing and Hamilton, both unbeaten, will challenge each other in the championship round.

Playing together as a team comprised of players from the Princeton and Montgomery Babe Ruth leagues for only a month, P-M had been an early surprise in the tournament when it defeated Trenton and Lawrence in its first two games.

In Ewing and Hamilton, however, P-M had to contend with superior pitching and hitting from two of the best teams in Babe Ruth baseball. Ewing pitcher John Britt was more than P-M could handle.

Britt struck out 13, including eight of the final 13 P-M batters, and did not allow a hit after the fourth inning. He gave up four hits — all singles. Offensively, Ewing scored in every inning but one.

The 21-run loss to Hamilton the day before had taken its toll on the P-M pitching staff. As the game got out of reach, "we tried resting our pitchers," explained P-M manager Joe Kvarta, but everyone, he said, showed up with sore arms for the Ewing game. As a result, P-M was forced to go with players who had never pitched before.

Still, for a team comprised mainly of 14-year-olds lacking playing experience, Princeton-Montgomery could hold its head up high. Said Kvarta, "We're ecstatic over what we did."

The cry, "Wait 'til Next Year," will be more than just an empty boast for the Princeton Montgomery team.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

We do not discriminate against race, color or creed.

Ficarro's Wins, 14-5
After 12-6 Loss to Dot's

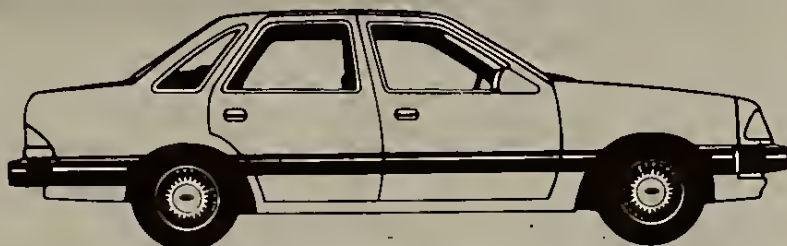

Partly inspired by a 5-3 loss suffered by front-running Grove Plumbing to Dot's Girls the hour before and partly inspired to rebound from a 12-6 upset to the same Dot's team 48 hours earlier, Steve Ficarro's Auto Body pounded out 18 hits in walloping Larkin's Gulf, 14-5, last week in the Mercer Women's League. Ficarro's led 10-0 after three innings.

"I was glad to see us bounce back," commented Ficarro manager Bob Smyth. But the upset at the hands of Dot's prevented Ficarro's from picking up any ground on Grove. With eight games left in the 30-game regular season, Ficarro's (17-5) trails Grove by three games.

This week Ficarro's will oppose Roberts Landscaping at 6:30 at Mercer Park's Field 3.

Cindy Lombardo led Ficarro's past Larkin's. She had three hits in five at bats and scored three runs. Dee Discavage was a perfect three-for-three while Grace Durland rapped three hits in four appearances and drove in three runs.

in their contest, as Dot's collected 19 hits, Ficarro's 16. "They only had three more hits but they won primarily because we committed seven errors," commented Smyth. "We did the job with our bats but our errors were all costly."

Donna Nicholson, Durland, Ault, Doreen Romanchuck, Discavage, Janet Comerford and Mazzella all had two hits each for the losers. In upsetting the two top teams in the league back to back, Dot's solidified its hold on fourth place. Its win over Ficarro's ended a nine-game Ficarro winning streak.

Up and Down Tourney For Princeton LL Team

It was a rollercoaster tournament for the Princeton Little League team.

First it was up and then it was down for Princeton in the District 12 Little League Tourney but the local team coached by John Curtis gave it quite a ride.

It ended Saturday when the HTRBA All Stars defeated Princeton, 15-2, for its second loss in the double elimination event. The victors' Jim Madola terminated Princeton both on the mound and with his bat. Madola fanned 11 and allowed just four hits, as both of Princeton's runs in the first inning were unearned.

At the plate Madola was even more destructive. He had four hits in four appearances, including three doubles, and drove in four runs. The win was his second of the tourney.

With the game tied at two, HTRBA broke it open with six runs in the third off losing pitcher Russell Mazgut. Matt Holden connected for a three-run homer and Troy Johnson had three hits for the winners.

The previous day, it was Princeton's turn in the losers' bracket. Although he isn't very big, Richard Wright stood tall for Princeton.

Wright fanned 11 and allowed just two hits in pitching his team to a 9-0 shutout over the Ewing Nationals. "With Wright on the mound, we can beat anybody in the league," boasted Curtis. Wright whiffed the last five batters he faced.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

Wright got plenty of offensive support, too, mainly from teammate Matt Zisler who had three hits, including a double and two RBIs.

Princeton scored all the runs it needed in the first inning when Dan Seidel's two-run double highlighted a three-run opening frame. Princeton added three more in the second, as it pounded 11 hits off Ewing hurler Jason Phillips.

Earlier in the tourney, after ousting Millstone-Roosevelt in the second round behind the pitching of Wright, Princeton was the victim of another fine mound performance.

In Thursday's quarterfinal round, Ray Kramer of Florence fanned a dozen Princeton batters and allowed only four hits in pitching Florence to a 17-2 victory.

Visiting Princeton scored both its runs in the top of the first inning but Florence bolted to a big lead when it plated seven runs in the same inning for its second tournament win. Losing pitcher Dashiell Love was tagged for 12 hits.

That Man Wright Again

Two days earlier Wright was a one-man wrecking gang against Millstone-Roosevelt in its opening game.

The lone returner from last year's team, Wright slammed the door by allowing just two infield hits and striking out 12. Wright was equally formidable at the plate. He had three hits, including a three-run double, the centerpiece of Princeton's four-run second inning.

Clean-up batter Zisler wielded a big bat again. He had three hits and three RBIs. His biggest was a two-run homer over the centerfield fence during a six-run sixth inning. In all, Princeton roughed up two M-R hurlers for 14 hits.

Mazgut, Arthur Gross, Zisler and Wright all stroked doubles while Love had two safeties and drove in a run for Princeton.

Area Swimmers Excel At Garden State Meet

The Princeton-based Eastern Express swim team captured 13 gold medals at the Garden State Games Swimming Championships earlier this month, while the Express' Hal Wansley received the Governor's Cup Award as the outstanding male swimmer at the event.

The team also captured seven silver and seven bronze medals in competition with 38 teams from across the state.

Wansley, a fifth-grader at Princeton Day School, won the 50-meter backstroke, 100 backstroke, 100 breaststroke and 200 individual medley. He achieved a U.S. Swimming Top-16 reportable time of 36.09 in the 10-and-under division of the 50 backstroke.

Princeton High sophomore Gabrielle Devereux won three events in the senior division: 100 freestyle, 200 freestyle and the 200 breaststroke.

Sarah Fraser, a freshman at PHS, finished first in the 13-14 division of the 200 butterfly and the 400 individual medley. She won a bronze medal in both the 100 butterfly and 200 backstroke.

Teammate Heather Payne, a 9th-grader at Princeton Day School, placed first in the 200 individual medley in the 13-14 division and won silver medals in the 100 backstroke and the 200 backstroke.

Rounding out the gold medal winners for the Express was Brett Awbrey, an eighth grader at West Windsor-Plainsboro Middle School, who won the 200 butterfly event in the 13-14 division.

Capturing silver medals for the Express were Kevin Radvany and Emily Morland, both students at Hopewell Valley Central High; Kristin Sosinski, a junior at Lawrence High School; and John Walsh, a fifth-grader at Princeton Day School.

Skillman's Courtney Faller finished third place in the 200 senior individual medley; Jennifer Stores, a freshman at Hopewell Valley, took a bronze in the 100 breaststroke in the 13-14 division; and Catherine Preston, an eighth-grader at John Witherspoon Middle School, placed third in the 200 freestyle.

JUST LISTED ON THE WESTERN SIDE OF PRINCETON...a wonderful rambling country-style house on a quiet lane with lots of privacy.

Starting with the entrance gate into a welcoming front hall, there is a wonderful spacious feeling — huge living room with fireplace, a second large room combines sitting room and dining room or if you prefer, a huge dining room also with fireplace. A state-of-the-art kitchen and large pantry will work beautifully for entertaining. There is a first floor guest "suite" with a luxurious whirlpool tub and stall shower, and a door leading outside for easy access to the inviting swimming pool. Upstairs, opening from a sunny hall with window seat reading area, there are three bedroom "suites", each with private bath, and its own sitting area. The master bedroom complex includes an enormous master bath with whirlpool tub, a small sitting or sewing room and incredible closet space.

As if all this wasn't enough, there is a separate garage apartment with wonderful space and seclusion. Of course there is more to the story so call us and we will tell it all to you. Offered at$1,175,000
